MERRY PARTY OF TOURISTS.

People From Webster, Irvington and Other Points Go to Mammoth Cave.

DESCRIPTION OF THE TRIP.

Mr. James Clinton Crutcher, the affable and popular agent of the Henderson Route, who is located at Webster, consummated his project in getting up a cave party last week and escorting them to the Mammoth Cave. The party consisted of Messrs. Thomas Lyddan, J. C. Crutcher and Misses Norris Kurtz and Nannie Lyddan, of Webster; Mr. Jesse Henderson and wife and Miss Mary Wraether, of Irvington; I. L. Bell and wife and Miss Ella Robertson, of Gaston; Miss Bernice Shacklett, of Eron; Messrs. W. D. Ashcraft, Frank Webb and Misses Mabel Simmons, Mary Price and Edna Dowden, of Brandenburg; Messrs. Overton and Murray Blanford and Misses Anna Payne and Alberta Drury, of Bewleyville; Misses Mary Eliza Haraway and Pansy Paris, of St. Louis and Lucile Henderson, of New Orleans, who are visiting relatives near Gaston and Irvington. There were several who joined our party at the cave, some from Georgia, Tennessee, Ohio and Missouri, making about thirty that went through the cave together.

Although certain parts of the cave are fraught with danger, our party traversed twenty-six miles of it without a casualty, except the spraining of an ankle of one of the gentlemen. The cave owners say there are 132 discovered miles of cavern in the Mammoth Cave. The writer has gone through both the Wyandotte cave of Indiana and the Mammoth cave of Kentucky and, as to beauty, the former has it, but when it comes to the immensity of the thing the Mammoth cave of course has got in her "bluff." The long route of the Mammoth is nine miles and not a single stalactite or stalagmite is to be seen, while the Wyandotte cave has thousands of them. But the short route of Mammoth cave has a great many stalactites and stalagmites.

Of course one could write up a great many interesting things concerning the Mammoth cave, but there are so many books, pamphlets, etc., already written that it is useless to bother our good editor with more. The old hotel too is a curiosity within itself. The quaint old building, some of it probably three quarters of a century old, with an annex of log cabins straight in a row for 500 feet, each joined to the other, has in front a porch the same length with solid wooden columns. The hotel grounds and vicinity are filled with the "Forest Primæval," for almost every imaginable variety of tree can be found there, some of them seeming to measure three and four feet in diameter. The management keeps everything immaculately clean and tries to please their guests in every particular. Every one in our party seemed to be so well pleased that it is useless to say that a trip to the Mammoth Cave is well worth your time and money, but I would advise going in a party. Mr. Clint Crutcher is thinking of getting up a party for Niagara Falls and I want to say right here that if he does and takes charge of it himself there will be neither care nor pains spared to make you enjoy yourself. Each and everyone of our party herein extends his heartfelt gratitude and appreciation to Mr. Crutcher for his kindness and care while on this trip.

Working Night and Day.

The busiest and mightiest little thing that ever was made is Dr. King's New Life Pills. These pills change weakness into strength, listlessness into energy, brain-fog into mental power. They're wonderful in building up the health. Only 25c per box. Sold by Short & Haynes.

DIED OF SENILITY.

Mrs. Mary Scott, of Lewisport Passes Away—Was Of Old Well-Known Family.

Mrs. Mary Scott died of infirmities incidental to old age at her home in Lewisport at 11:40 o'clock Friday night after an illness of nearly three months. Mrs. Scott was past eighty years of age and belonged to one of the oldest and best families in Hancock county. Her father, Mike Scott, came to Hancock county in 1839. She was a sister of the late George Smith, one of the best known men of the county, who died at his home, near Lewisport, several years ago. She was a sister of Mr. Levi Smith and Mrs. Cattie Greathouse, who now reside in Lewisport. She leaves two sons and two daughters. They are James Woolridge, of Louisville, George W. Scott, of Owensboro, Mrs. Sallie Hicks, of Lewisport, and Miss Mary Scott, who lived with her mother until her death. The funeral was conducted from the home Sunday afternoon and the interment was in the Lewisport burying ground.

A. R. Bass, of Morgantown, Ind., had to get up ten or twelve times in the night and had severe backache and pains in the kidneys. Was cured by Foley's Kidney Cure—A. R. Fisher.

Elect Officers and Incorporate.

The following officers of the Murray Roofing Tile Company have been elected: Louis Manbach, President; W. V. Va. President; C. A. Crary, Huntington, W. V. Vice-President; J. Broh, Huntington, W. V. Secretary and Treasurer; A. H. Murray, Cloverport, Ky., Manager; Louis LaMont, Cloverport, Ky., Superintendent.

The company has secured a charter and has been incorporated under the laws of the state of West Virginia.

W. L. HUCKEY PASSES AWAY.

Former Resident of Breckenridge
County Dead at Punta
Gorda, Fla.

MARRIED MISS N. J. S. PATE.

Died at "Shrewsbury," his home on Charlotte Harbor, near Punta Gorda, Florida, on Wednesday, July 23, in the sixty-fifth year of his age, William Lamb Huckey, a native of Indiana and son of the late Joshua Brannon Huckey and Rebecca Lang Huckey. He was a resident of Breckenridge county for many years previous to his removal South, having married Miss Nannie J. Shrewsbury Pate, of "Walnut Hill," near Hite's Run, by whom he was the father of two sons, now grown. A daughter, by a former marriage, Mrs. John Allen Smart, of Beaumont, Texas, also survives him and he leaves fifteen grandchildren. Mrs. Isabelle de la Hunt, of "Virginia Place," Cannelton, is his only living sister, remaining at the homestead, which four generations of the Huckey family have occupied.

Short & Haynes Will Buy It Back.

You assume no risk when you buy Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. Short & Haynes will refund your money if you are not satisfied after using it. It is everywhere admitted to be the most successful remedy in use for bowel complaints and the only one that never fails. It is pleasant, safe and reliable.

New Goods Arriving.

Part of the stock for W. J. Tilford's new general merchandise store arrived last week and the remainder will arrive and be placed in the Fair building before next Saturday, so the house will be ready to open for business on that day, as advertised in the News. Mr. Tilford has been in the mercantile business twenty-seven years. He has just closed out four general merchandise houses, one at each of the following towns: Birk City, Crumwell, Morgantown and Cardville.

Will Buy Fenley Fire Clay.

The Auburn Ash Coal Company is making arrangements to furnish the Murray Roofing Tile Company with fire clay to be used as the latter company's factory in connection with shale, in the manufacture of roofing tile. The clay is found in the Auburn Ash Coal Company's coal mines at Fenley, Hancock county. It underlies the coal and there are large deposits. Switches are now being laid at Fenley for the purpose of mining the fire clay and everything will be in readiness to ship it over the Henderson Route to this city when the Murray Roofing Tile Co.'s factory begins operations.

HAS GONE TO HER REWARD.

Mrs. Elisha B. Gardner, of Union
Star, Succumbs to Partial Paralysis.

WOMAN OF EXEMPLARY LIFE.

Mrs. Elisha B. Gardner, who formerly lived near this city, died at her home in Union Star Friday at 3 o'clock in the afternoon of paralysis. She had been in declining health since last January, when she received a partial paralytic stroke. The interment took place at Irvington Saturday morning at 9 o'clock. The funeral services were conducted by Rev. J. T. Lewis, of the Irvington Baptist church, assisted by Rev. Hines, of the Methodist church, at Irvington.

Mrs. Gardner is survived by her husband and the following children: Mrs. Sandy Hendry, of West Point, Ga., Will, Newsum, John and Jesse Gardner. Two children are dead.

In 1842 Mrs. Gardner was born. About 1865 she was married to Mr. Elisha Gardner. They lived on the Scott Smart place in the Hite's Run neighborhood a short time then in this city. Later they moved to Union Star.

Mrs. Gardner was a member of the Cloverport Baptist church for years. She is well-remembered in this city and vicinity and was known and beloved by many acquaintances at Union Star. She led an exemplary life in every respect, was the mother of a family of honorable men and women, and her loss is deeply felt in the community in which she lived and endeared herself unto others.

Died of Cholera Infantum.

Irene, age one year and ten months, the bright little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Furrow, of Holt, died Friday of cholera infantum. The interment was at Merritt's graveyard, near Addison. Mr. Furrow is a son of Chas. Furrow, of this city.

Primary Department Discontinued.

Brandenburg, Ky., July 28.—(Special.)—W. R. Gray, the former principal, will have charge of Brandenburg Normal the ensuing year, with Henry Cowley as assistant. There will be no primary department as formerly.

Kentucky Press Officers.

Lexington, Ky., July 28.—The following officers were elected by the Kentucky Press association at the business meeting today.

Paul M. Moore, Earlinton, president; W. Louis Landrum, Lancaster, vice president; R. E. Morningstar, of Bowling Green, secretary and treasurer. All of the officers were elected unanimously, only one name being put in nomination for each office.

COUNTY TEACHERS' INSTITUTES.

Meade's Pedagogues in Session This Week—Breckenridge Institute Sept. 28.

Brandenburg, Ky., July 28.—(Special.)—This week the officials of the county turned the keys over to the pedagogues of Meade county and to all others interested in the cause of education. The county's Teachers' Institute is in session for five days, Wednesday evening the commencement for the graduates in the common school branches will be held with Lee Ashcraft salutatorian and Miss Alice Carwin valedictorian. There will be a musical program by local talent. Prof. J. C. Willis has charge of the institute.

The Breckenridge County Teachers' Institute will be held at Hardinsburg September 28. It will be conducted by Profs. Willis and Ockett.

Both Lecture and Sermon Good.

Hardinsburg, Ky., July 28.—(Special.)—Mr. A. W. Hawks, the noted humorist and lecturer of Baltimore, Md., delivered his well known lecture, "Sunshine and Shadow" at the City Hall last Saturday evening. He was greeted with a large and appreciative audience, which manifested their enjoyment by frequent applause. The lecture seemed to give general satisfaction, more so at least, than any other entertainment yet given the public here under the auspices of the Hardinsburg Lyceum.

Mr. Hawks stayed here over Sunday and preached to a large congregation at the Baptist church in the evening. His sermon was as good as his lecture.

Interesting Protracted Meeting.

An interesting protracted meeting is in progress at Rosetta. It is conducted by Rev. Roberts, the pastor. Last Sunday was a big day there. It was an all day meeting with dinner on the ground. Five hundred people were in attendance. The meeting will continue this week. Dinner on the grounds every day.

Creditable Performance.

French's New Sensation gave a creditable performance at the river Thursday night to a full house. The orchestra was superior to those carried by the majority of this kind of show and the artists, especially in the more humorous parts, provoked a good deal of laughter. Mr. French's show has won the reputation of being clean and up-to-date and always draw a large crowd here.

Receiving Shed and Truck Way.

Last week a large receiving shed and platform for fruit and vegetables to be packed by the Polk Packing Company, was built on the east side of the factory and connecting with it. A long truck way from the east side to the L. H. & St. L. switch, also, has been erected. The foundations for the boiler, according to the plans, were built last week. The factory building is practically completed.

HARD FOUGHT CASE IS WON.

Dr J H Hart Gets $1,350--New Directors of Bank of Hardinsburg Elected

OTHER HARDINSBURG NEWS.

Hardinsburg, Ky., July 28.—(Special.)—The hard fought case of Lafa Green vs. Dr. J. H. Hart has just been decided by Judge Weed S. Chief. The decision gives Dr. Hart a judgment for $1,350. Mr. Green has superadded the judgment and taken an appeal to the Court of Appeals.

TWO PETITIONS FILED.

Milton Lockard and Others Ask for Election--W. T. Norris Wants Passway.

Hardinsburg, Ky., July 28.—(Special.)—Milton Lockard, T. J. Adkinson, R. C. Henry and others filed a petition in the County Court last Monday praying for an election upon the proposition as to whether or not spirituous, vinous or malt liquors shall be sold, bartered or loaned in the city of Irvington. If the order is granted the election will be held on Wednesday, September 30.

W. T. Norris, of Big Spring, filed a petition asking for a private passway to the Big Spring and Letchfield road. Jas. Harned, John Meador and H. E. Minter were pointed as a commissioner to report upon the necessity for the passway and to assess the damages.

New Members Bank Directory.

Hardinsburg, Ky., July 28.—(Special.)—The Hon. R. M. Jolly, retired as a director of the Bank of Hardinsburg and the following new directors have been elected: Col. Lafayette Green, of Falls of Rough; Mr. C. V. Robertson, of Glendene; and Dr. A. M. Kinchloe, of Hardinsburg. The present directory is as follows: B. F. Beard, G. W. Beard, Morris Eskridge, Col. Lafayette Green, C. V. Robertson and Dr. A. M. Kinchloe.

Catarrh of the Stomach.

When the stomach is overloaded; when food is taken into it that fails to digest, it decays and inflames the mucous membrane, exposing the nerves and causes the glands to secrete mucus, instead of the natural juices of digestion. This is called Catarrh of the stomach. For years I suffered with Catarrh of the Stomach, caused by indigestion. Doctors and medicines failed to benefit me until I used Kotol Dyspepsia Cure—J. R. Rhea Coppel, Tex. Sold by Short & Haynes.

CHAPTER XIV.

THE EPISODE OF THE THRONEROOM.

"THIS is the throne of Allood!"

The Princess Yette paused

before two massive doors.

It was the next afternoon, and she had already shown him the palace of a queen, the hovel of a pauper!

Through the afternoon not one word other than those which might have passed between good friends escaped

the lips of either. He was all interest, she all graciousness. Allood, the sturdy guard, swung open the doors, drew the curtains and stood aside for them to pass. Into the quiet hall she led him, a princess in a gown of gray,

a courtier in tweeds. Inside the doors

he paused.

"And I thought you were Miss Gugenstockenlof," he said. She laughed with the glee of a child who has charmed and delighted through surprise.

"Am I not a feeble mite to sit on that throne and rule all that comes within its reach?"

He turned and directed his attention to the throne at the opposite end of the hall. "From its seat I calmly instruct gray haired statesmen, wear their crowns and pass upon me as if I were Demosthenes, challenge the evils that may drive monarchs mad and wonder if my crown is on in straight."

"Let me be ambassador from the United States and kneel at the throne,

oh princess!"

"I could not engage in a jest with an ancient ancestor, Mr. Lorry."

It is sacred, though thoughtless Americans. Come, we will draw nearer that you may see the beauty of the workmanship in that great old chair."

"They stood at the base of the low, velveted stage on which stood the chair,

with its high back, its massive arms and legs ashlimmer in the light from the lofty windows. It was of gold, inlaid with precious stones—emeralds, rubies, emeralds, sapphires and other wondrous jewels—a relic of ancient Granstark.

"I sat in the center. Always at one side or the other, usually leaning my elbow on the arm. You see, the discussions are generally so long and weighty that I become fatigued. One time I am ashamed to confess it, I used to sleep on the throne. That was long ago. I manage to keep awake very well of late. Do you like my throne?"

"And to think that it is yours!"

"It is this room that gives me the right to be hailed with 'Long live the princess!' Not with campaign yells and hurrahs for Yette! How does that sound? 'Hurrah for Yette!' She was laughing merrily.

"Don't say it! It sounds sacrilegious, revolting!"

"For over three years—since I was eighteen—I have been reigning in that chair. During the years of my reign prior to that time I sat there with my Uncle Casper standing beside me. How often I begged him to sit down with me! There was so much room, and he was certainly must have grown tired of standing. One time I cried because he frowned at me when I persisted in the presence of a great assemblage of nobles from Dawsberg. It seems that it was a most important audience that I was granting, but I thought more of my uncle's tired old legs. I remember saying through my sobs of mortification that I would have him benched. You are to guess whether that startling threat created consternation or mirth."

"What a whimsical little princess you must have been, weeping and pout-ing and going to sleep!" he laughed.

"And how sedate and wise you have become!"

"Thank you. How very nice you are. I have felt all along that some one would discern my effort to be dig-

This fairy spell, pay cash about yourself the robe of rank and take up the sequiter. Perhaps I may fall over my face."

"And hurt your head all over again,"

she said, laughing nervously. She hesi-tated for a moment, a perplexed frown crossing her brow. Then she jerked a rich robe from the back of the throne and placed it about her shoulders. It was a woman's cape. Taking up the sequiter, she stood before the great chair and, with a smile on her lips, lifted it above his head, saying softly:

"Granstark welcomes the American prince."

"You have not said 'Thank you,'"

she said finally, her eyes watering beneath his steady gaze.

"I am only thinking how easy it would be to cross the gulf that lies between us. With two movements of my body I can place it before you, with a word I can be sitting at your side. It is not so difficult after all," he said, hungrily eyeing the broad chair.

"No man, unless a prince, ever sat upon this throne," she said.

"You have called me a prince."

"Oh, I jested," she cried quickly, comprehending his intention. "I forbid

you."

Her command came too late, for he was beside her on the throne of Gran-stark! She sat perfectly rigid for a moment, then her face in her eyes.

"Do you know what you have done?"

she whispered miserably.

"I burst the spell," he replied, astounding and proud as a conqueror. "I do not feel. Truly he was guilty of unprecedented presumption."

"You have desecrated—desecrated!"

he cried, his face ashen. "You went on, paying no attention to his remark."

"Pecceci. Ah, your highness, I delight in my sin! For once I am a powerful, I speak from the throne. I will not have me abdicate in the zenith of my glory! He kind, most gracious ones. Besides, did you not once cry because your uncle refused to sit with you? Had he been the possessor of a dangerous wound, as I am, and had he found himself so weak that he could stand no longer, I am sure he would have done as I have—sat down in preference to falling limp at your feet. You do not know how badly I am wounded," he pleaded, with the subtlest double meaning.

"Why should you wound me?" she asked plaintively. "You have no right to treat the throne I occupy as a subject for pranks and indignities. I did not believe you could be so forgetful."

There was a proud and pitiful resentment in her voice that brought him to his senses at once. He had defied her throne. In shame and humiliation he cried:

"I am a fool, an ingrate! You have been too gentle with me. For this despicable act of mine I cannot ask pardon, and it would be beneath you to grant it. I have hurt you, and I can never atone. I forgot how sacred is your throne. Let me depart in disgrace." He stood erect as if to forsake the throne he had stained, but she, awayed by a complete reversal of feeling, timidly, pleadingly touched his

Take Botanic Kidney Specific. Soon all the symptoms disappear, discharges cease, aches in the back disappear. The burning sensation stops and a perfect cure is guaranteed.

Botanic Kidney Specific gives strength, power and health to the kidneys. Acts directly on the uric acid and dissolves and destroys it.

Plea to the taste. Especially advised for chronic cases that resist all other treatment. $1 per large bottle at my store or by express. Call at write A. R. Fisher, Cloverport, Ky.

Mrs. Dixon Will be Acquitted.

Word has been received at Evansville to the effect that Mrs. Martha Dixon, of Perry county, Ind., will be acquitted on the charge of poisoning her husband, Bonnyardie Dixon, last spring. She will attempt to prove he died of a gripper. It will also be shown that his stomach, which was said to contain poison, had been tampered with. She is out on bail, as previously stated in the News.

No False Claims

The proprietors of Foley's Honey and Tar do not advertise this as a "cure cure for consumption." They do not claim it will cure this dread complaint in advanced cases, but do positively assert that it will cure in the earlier stages and never fails to give comfort and relief in the worst cases. Foley's Honey and Tar is without doubt the greatest throat and lung remedy. Refuse substitutes.—A. R. Fisher.

Accidents at Tobinsport.

A fine horse belonging to Jas. Weatherholt, of Tobinsport, Ind., while on pasture one day last week became entangled in a barbed wire fence and was badly cut over the body before rescued from its dangerous position. Mr. Tate, the only man in the neighborhood with a pair of wire clippers, saved the animal. It will not be able to work for several weeks. It is valued at $75.

Waldo Simons met with a peculiar accident Wednesday. He was sitting in his barn with his arms folded and holding his horse by the bridle. The whistle of a threshing in the neighborhood blew and the horse jumped, wrenching and painfully bruising Mr. Simons' arms.

Just About Bedtime

Take a little Early Riser—it will cure constipation, biliousness and liver troubles. DeWitt's Little Early Riser is different from other pills. They do not grip and break down the mucous membranes of the stomach, liver and bowels, but cure by gently arousing the secretions and giving strength to those organs. Sold by Short & Haynes.

Building Gasoline Launch.

Master Mechanic P. D. Plank is building a gasoline launch at the shops which he will use as a pleasure craft. It is 12 feet long, has a 4½ h.p. motor and will be propelled by a 1½ horse-power engine. The boat is made of heavy strong timber and will be as sea-worthy as a larger craft. The boat and engine are both of Mr. Plank's construction and pattern.

Hugh Ditto, of Brandenburg, Ben Clarkson, of Big Spring, and Vance Clark, of Owensboro, have been acquired at Owensboro on the charge of burning the Owensboro Paper's Manufacturing Company's factory, have sold their interests in the concern to Mr. Frank Brown, who was, prior to the burning of the factory last spring, superintendent. Mr. Brown has bought the entire stock of piece goods and made-up stock and began making up the goods Monday. The machinery was only lightly damaged by the fire and has been repaired. The price for the stock was not given.

"I had scrofula and erysipelas for eighteen years, until I heard

Of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery," writes Mr. Henry Koons of Queens, W. Va. "When I commenced to take this medicine I weighed one hundred and thirty pounds. I have taken six bottles of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and three vials of his 'Pleasant Pellets,' and am glad to say I feel like a new man. I now weigh one hundred and seventy-five pounds. When I had used one bottle of the medicine I could feel it was helping me. I realize Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is the best medicine on earth."

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery purifies the blood and entirely eradicates the poisons that breed and feed disease. It cures scrofula, eczema, erysipelas, boils, pimples and other eruptions that mar and scar the skin. Pure blood is essential to good health. The weak, run-down, debilitated condition, which so many people experience is commonly the effect of impure blood. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery not only cleanses the blood of impurities, but it increases the activity of the blood-making glands, and it enriches the body with an abundant supply of pure, rich blood.

Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser is sent free on receipt of stamps to pay expense of mailing only. Send 21 one-cent stamps for the book in paper covers, or 31 stamps for the cloth-bound volume. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

A Minister's Labors.

From an Open letter in August Century.

Apart from the labors that fruit in to pulpit ministrations and pastoral and public service is no accounting to be made of the mental strain and the spiritual travails which are an inalienable part of the ministerial calling? Not only does the minister carry on his heart the sorrows of a many persons who look to him for succor, but there are hours when the tide of his own faith ebbs. Is a minister's fight with his doubts worth anything to the world? Because he always seems sure of his hold on the eternal verities, is it to be thought that he is content to pass on to others a merely traditional faith. Instead of one that has been wrought out in long hours of painful questioning and wrought at last triumphantly into the very texture of his own life? The effort which a minister makes to keep and broaden, to intensify and make real, his own faith, to adjust it to the growing light of science, is as necessary and as noble a part of his work as anything that he does.

New Guns for Militia.

Jackson, Ky., July 29.—Adjutant General Murray received today a communication from the War Department at Washington stating that under the thirteenth section of the Dick bill there were at Washington 1,149 Krag-Jorgensen rifles awaiting his order. These rifles are to be furnished to the militia who were inspected by Major Beck, the United States Inspecting Officer, who lately made a tour through Kentucky.

There yet remains to be inspected the Shelbyville,ynthiana, Springfield, Mayville and Frankfort infantry companies and the cavalry company at Pineville, and "Krag's" will be furnished each enlisted man when the inspection is completed.

Cassius Marcellus Clay Dead.

Cassius Marcellus Clay, the sage of Whitehall, and one of the most unique characters that ever figured in the history of Kentucky, passed away at Whitehall, near Richmond, Ky., Wednesday night. He was in his ninety-third year and died of cystitis.

The Kentucky Press association met at Lexington last week and was royally entertained by the citizens and local members of the Press. The keys of the city were handed over by Mayor Duncan and for two days it was a merry go round of sight seeing and entertainment. Lexington is a city of beautiful homes, institutions of learning and education. No other city in the State is so well equipped along these lines. The Eastern Asylum, the Reform School and the State College were all visited by the members of the association in a body and shown through these institutions. They are a credit to any State and are certainly well conducted and managed. One that has never visited these institutions has very little idea of what is being done for the unfortunate creatures who are sent there. The Reform school is certainly a great institution and a revelation to persons who are not acquainted with its methods of caring for the boys and girls. The association spent a most enjoyable afternoon as guests of the Superintendent and Commissioners. Editor Walton, who is one of the Commissioners, was especially courteous. The news wants to thank the good citizens of Lexington and especially the Press of that city for a royal good time. We enjoyed the stay, enjoyed meeting the members of the Association and everything connected with the trip. It was one of the best meetings we have attended in years.

HARDINSBURG.

County Court day last Monday. Mrs. Judith Hall visited her daughter near Butler, last week. Mrs. M. J. Thomas is visiting her parents near Derby, Ind. Dr. R. T. They will be missed by a large circle of friends. Miss Basham, of Union Star, has been the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Gus D. Shellman, returned to her home last week. Remember the Masonic excursion from Fordville to Louisville and return, $1 from all Branch stations Sunday, August 2nd, 1903. Miss Nita Beard, who has been the guest of her grand-parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Board, returned to her home in Louisville, Friday. Mrs. Sallie Board and son, Amos Board, left last Friday for Denver, Col., to be with her son, Kenneth, who is ill with typhoid fever. Mrs. Bettie Wainwright, of Vine Grove, was the guest of Miss Tula C. Daniel last week. She delivered a missionary address at the M. E. church South last Wednesday evening.

LODIBURG.

Lodiburg is on a boom. H. H. Johnson has his new store house nearly completed and will give a music party and ice cream supper, Wednesday night, July 29. All are invited to attend. C. C. Grant, wife and two children spent Saturday and Sunday visiting relatives near Sample. Windfield Henry and Myrna Cushman attended the picnic at Rhodella last Saturday and report a fine time. Victor Orendorf was the guest of Gertrude Keys Sunday. Several from this neighborhood will attend the picnic at Garfield next Saturday, August 10. Dott Basham and brother, Nathaniel, of Louisville, are visiting Mrs. Jesse Payne and other relatives. Annie Parks is spending the week at Bewleyville, the guest of Misses Annie and Lemie Compton. H. N. Hardin spent part of last week at Addison, the guest of his sister, Mrs. Wm. Gibson. Mr. B. Johnson spent a few days visiting his son, H. H. Johnson, last week.

DESTRUCTIVE FLAMES' WORK.

Valuable Barn Owned by Claude Holland, Lewisport, Destroyed by Fire

CHAPIN SAW-MILL BURNED

Claude Holland, living near Lewisport, lost a big barn by fire Sunday night, entailing a loss of $1,500 with no insurance. Besides twenty tons of hay and farming implements, two mules valued at $350 were burned to death.

CHAPIN SAW-MILL BURNED.

Destroyed by Fire Early Saturday Morning.—Lumber Party Damaged.

Lucien Chapin's saw-mill, on the Hardinsburg pike, about four and a half miles from this city, was destroyed by fire Saturday morning about five o'clock. All the wood work about the mill and the machinery is a total loss and the boiler and engine were damaged to some extent, but it is thought they can be used again. The lumber stacked near the mill caught fire but escaped with slight damage. Water was used from Hitts Run, near by and the flames checked.

Mr. Chapin cannot account for the origin of the fire. The night before, when he left the mill, he saw that all the fires were out and everything in order. A conservative estimate of his loss by the fire would be about $300, but the delay in filling sawing contracts occasioned by it, will be felt as a loss equally as great.

Will Do Without Gas.

All citizens using natural gas in their residences, from the well on the Murray Roofing Tile Co.'s land, were notified last week that the flow would be shut off this week. The well will be cleaned out this week and put in shape to supply fuel for the Murray Roofing Tile Co.'s factory, which will be in operation in a few weeks. The well formerly belonged to the Cloverport Paving Brick and Manufacturing Company and the management was under Chas. Bohler.

The Foundation of Health.

Nourishment is the foundation of health—life—strength. Kodol Dyspepsia Cure is the one great medicine that enables the stomach and digestive organs to digest, assimilate and transform all foods to the kind of blood that nourishes the nerves and feeds the tissues. Kodol lays the foundation of health. Nature does the rest. Indigestion, Dyspepsia and all disorders of the stomach and digestive organs are cured by the use of Kodol. Sold by Scott & Haynes.

The Breckenridge News.

WEDNESDAY, JULY 29, 1908.

THE FARMER.

There is an old saying that "He who causes two blades of grass to grow where one grew before, is a public benefactor." If that is true, what shall be said of the man who drains the pestilent swamp; turning its sour clods up to the air and sunshine, causing them to grow with grain? What shall be said of the man who removes the stones from a rocky hillside until at last he has a hillside of growing corn? Are not such men benefactors in the highest sense.

The farmer is often a subject for ridicule. He is represented as lean and lank, with a long straggling hair on his chin, pantaloons supported by one suspender and a wisp of hay in his hair. This is hardly a true picture. A typical farmer may have hands showing the signs of hard labor, but he has a well-fitting suit of good clothes, good boots, hat and overcoat, and a pocket-book with some money in it.

A farmer is usually handicapped by his isolation. He is far from neighbors and has little to do with social courtesies. In this way he sometimes becomes narrow and self-centered. But he also has advantages. His life is a natural and normal one. He comes in close touch with all the beauty of nature. He has more beautiful scenery than that upon which his brother gazes in the theater. He listens to concerts more delightful than any heard in a concert hall. The farmer represents the absolute necessities of life. If he works not, we eat not. He is tied to the soil of nature, not to city watches. There is no way in which the hustle and bustle of the city can bring results to pass in his labor. You cannot hasten a field of ripening grain nor hasten an orchard of maturing fruit.

Should Live In The Country.

Every boy or girl should live in the country till ten years of age. God pity the boy who is born in a narrow street of a great city, who has not had a bit of green grass on which to place his feet, and who has never lain on his back in some upland pasture and watched the white clouds drift across the blue sky and dreamed of the things he would do when once he became a man.

The farmer is also one of the most independent of men. If he has a fairly good farm he can raise all that is necessary for the supply of his wants. No combination of coal barons can freeze him out, for he raises his own wood; no combination of meat or food producers can starve him out, as he can raise his own food. We are all dependent upon the farmer and his food. Practically all our food products come from the farmer. The cities who are the centers of business, politics and practical affairs are the children or grandchildren of farmers, and are spending the energy which their fathers stored up by a life of hard labor. Your society gains in business of temper and politeness, it loses in strength and force. Society is always dying at the top, but new and vigorous shoots are being sprung from the soil. The farmer is perfect in his own order and place. The only way in which a man can pay debt is by giving him the measure of respect that is due his fruitful labors.

A WORD TO FARM TOILERS.

PAIN'S CELERY COMPOUND

The Home Friend of the Farmer and His Family.

After the labors and toils of the summer time, and harvesting of crops in the early autumn, many of our farmers, their wives, daughters, and sons, find themselves in a condition of health demanding careful attention if suffering is to be avoided later on. Many experience kidney trouble in some form; with some the liver is torpid; there is biliousness, nausea, and vomiting, with loss of appetite and depression of spirits. Thousands who have been exposed to cold, damp winds and rains while toiling in the harvest fields, now feel the twinges of terrible rheumatism; others run down by worry, overwork, and irregular dieting, are tormented with the pangs of dyspepsia. To the thousands of run down, sickly, and half dead men and women in farm homes, we recommend with all honesty and confidence the worker's friend, Paine's Celery Compound, the only medicine that can quickly and fully restore strength to the weak body and vigor to the muscles. Paine's Celery Compound tones the stomach; it removes poisonous acids from the blood which cause rheumatism; it feeds the weak and diseased nerves and banishes neuralgic twinges; it purifies the blood and gives vitality and life. The use of Paine's Celery Compound in autumn means the establishing of a perfect physical vigor to withstand the rigors of a severe winter.

DIAMOND DYES

For children's clothes are most acceptable. They color and wash, and are as good as new. They are sold at all drug stores. Send for a special department of advice, and we will answer free any questions about dyeing. Send sample of goods when possible. Direction book and 45 dyed sample free. DIAMOND DYES, Burlington, Vt.

Difficult Digestion

That is dyspepsia. It makes life miserable. Its sufferers eat not because they want to, but simply because they must. They know they are irritable and fretful; but they cannot be otherwise.

They complain of a bad taste in the mouth, a tenderness at the pit of the stomach, an uneasy feeling of puffiness, headache, heartburn and what not. The remedy, proved by permanent cures of thousands of severe cases, is

Mr. and Mrs. Will Adams, of Louisville, are visiting her mother, Mrs. Henry Allen.

Mrs. George Flannery is now in Chicago, Ill., for an indefinite stay with her son. She will go from there to Palestine, Ill., to be with her sister, Mrs. G. W. Bishop, for some time.

Dr. Joe Allen came down from Louisville Saturday night to make his home with his parents near Andersonville. He is ready for practice and would be highly recommended, after graduating in the Louisville Medical College.

Treat Your Kidneys for Rheumatism

When you are suffering from rheumatism, the kidneys must be attended to at once so that they will eliminate the uric acid from the blood. Foley's Kidney Cure is the most effective remedy for this purpose. R. T. Hopkins, of Polar, Wis., says, "After unsuccessfully doctoring three years for rheumatism with the best doctors, I tried Foley's Kidney Cure and it cured me. I cannot speak too highly of this great medicine."—A. R. Fisher.

Splendid Attractions at Lexington Elks Fair.

There will be a splendid line of attractions at the Lexington Elks Fair this year, the dates being August 16 to 15 inclusive. Besides the sensational locomotive collision in which two real live locomotives weighing 30 tons each will crash together at full speed on the afternoon of Wednesday, the third day, will be DeLaugh's 20th Century Band of 25 musicians. Japanese village, splendid live stock rings, daily racing and other attractions. The premium list is greater this year than ever before. The Elks of Lexington are sparing neither pains nor money in making their big show this year a success.

If you care to get a hustle on yourself—want to have those essential called vim and push without a continued, unattractive exertion—keep the organs of the body working like a newly oiled piece of machinery. Ramon's Treatment of Liver Pills and Tonic Pellets supplies the means; they produce no unpleasant sensations, no purging griping or evil after-effects, but impart strength and vigor from the very beginning of the treatment. 25 doses—complete course—25c.

Breckenridge Boy's Success.

Mr. W. M. Board, of Tennessee, formerly of Custer, this county, was in the city last Wednesday. Mr. Board is connected with the Brandon Training School for boys, at Tullahoma, Tenn., and is also traveling for the Ward Seminary for girls, at Nashville, Tenn. These two schools are among the best in the South and Mr. Board has been very successful in his work in their respective institutions. The training school had 287 pupils last year and the seminary 400. Mr. Board is now traveling through Kentucky and securing pupils for the two schools. He was born and reared at Custer and left there about ten years ago. He is a nephew of Judge Milton Board, of Hartsville.

W. W. Starks for Representative.

W. W. Starks, a very popular and excellent young man of Lewisport, is being talked of for the legislature. Mr. Starks is a Republican of the finest stamp and his many friends, both in Hawesville and Lewisport, are confident that his chance would be splendid if he should be persuaded to enter the field.

Lyons-Cockrell.

Mr. Jas. Lyons, of Tobinport, and Miss Carrie Cockrell were married last Friday at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Martin Lyons, in Cotteville, Kans. The Cockrells removed to Kansas about a month ago from Tobinport. Mr. and Mrs. Lyons will reside in Kansas for the present.

Sam Jackson Gets $150—Andrew

Burk Case Continued—Other Business of the Court.

The following were the principal cases in Circuit Court at Hawesville last week:

The case of Sam Jackson against the railroad was compromised Wednesday, the road paying Jackson $150 and settling all costs. Jackson had his arm injured sometime ago by falling from a scaffold while working on the depot.

The case of Andrew Burk charged with complicity in the killing of a man named McCarver some years ago, was continued. His brother, Mike Burk, is now serving two years on the same charge, while another brother, Dan Burk, served a while and was pardoned by Governor Beck.

Bettie May Allen, of near Pateville, aged nine, was adjudged of unsound mind.

Case of John Newton, charged with cutting timber on W. H. Lyon's land, was continued.

Edmund Ray, a Lewisport negro, aged 21, was adjudged a pauper idiot. An order was made for $23 annually from the state for his keeping.

A Miss Monarch, of near Lewisport, was again adjudged an idiot. The unfortunate woman is about forty years old, and has been repeatedly tried every four years, according to law.

Very Remarkable Cure of Diarrhoea.

"About six years ago for the first time in my life I had a sudden and severe attack of diarrhoea," says Mrs. Alice Miller, of Morgan, Texas. "I got temporary relief, but it came back again and for six long years I have suffered more misery and agony than I can tell. It was worse than death. My husband spent hundreds of dollars for physicians' prescriptions and treatment without avail. Finally we moved to Bosque county, our present home, and one day I happened to see a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy with a testimonial of a man who had been cured by it. The case was so similar to my own that I concluded to try the remedy. The result was wonderful. I could hardly realize that it was well again, or believe it could be so after having suffered so long, but that one bottle of medicine, costing but a few cents, cured me." For sale by Short & Hayes.

Elopements to Cannelton.

Last Saturday afternoon Squire Robinson was in his glory. He had on hand two runaway couples. At 1 p. m. he married Manly Day to Addie Merideth, both of Breckenridge county, Ky. At 2 p. m. he united in marriage Chaney Taylor, of Lilly Dale, to Ross V. Alvey, of Derby.—Cannelton Telephone.

Looking for Asphalt.

A number of prominent land owners of Meade and Breckenridge counties met J. W. Adams and A. Gelmeyer, of Cincinnati, and C. E. Voorman, of Racine, Wis., at Seelbach's hotel, Louisville, last week and discussed the purchase of asphalt lands in these counties. The three visiting capitalists are on the lookout for asphalt fields. A report on the asphalt properties in Breckenridge and Meade counties was made by J. F. Elsom, of New Albany, Ind.

BLACK-DRAUGHT
FOR CONSTIPATION

Constipation is nothing more than a clogging of the bowels and nothing less than vital stagnation or death if not relieved. If every constipated sufferer could see that he is allowing a poisonous filth to remain in his system, he would soon get relief. Constipation invites all kind of contagion. Headaches, biliousness, colic and many other ailments disappear when constipated bowels are relieved. Theodore's Black-Draught thoroughly cleanses out the bowels in a natural manner without the purging of calomel or other violent cathartics.

Be sure that you get the original Theodore's Black-Draught, made by The Chattanooga Medicine Co. Sold by all druggists in 25 cent and $1.00 packages.

Never, Ark., May 25, 1901. I cannot recommend Theodore's Black-Draught high enough. I have used it all the time and have used it for the last twenty years. It never fails to do any other laxative. I think I could never be able to do without it on account of being troubled with constipation. I have used it with confidence all that keeps me well. R. E. FARLAND.

ON BREATHITT COUNTY.

When we consider that one third of the white voters of Breathitt county are unable to read or write, we wonder, less others why were not missionaries sent there long ago. That county has always had a deficit in its account with the state. Out of fifty-one felony cases on the docket at a single term of court there was not one conviction. There have been some convictions since the present governor went into office but he has granted pardons in twenty-eight cases. These statistics apply to the white population so it must be a paradise for what negroes may be there. No lynchings ever are reported from Breathitt; the whites are too busy settling their own grudges and enmities. The schoolmaster is not abroad in that county and it is hard to civilize people without school houses. The courts have hitherto encouraged lawlessness by failing to punish. There are twelve counties in this state without a newspaper and without schoolhouses enough "to say so."

You cannot get figs from thistles. The Democratic papers are laying everything that the Republicans do in the great Goebel-Taylor contest. We only wish to remind them of one glaring, head-light fact. Taylor was elected Governor of Kentucky by the voice of the people. Who stole the office from him? What caused them trouble in Frankfort? What really led us to the assassination of Goebel? Not a Republican in Kentucky of any standing ever rejoiced at Goebel's death or ever connived at it. Every Democrat in the state was hilarious over Taylor being deprived of his seat and upheld those who did.

Brutally Tortured.

A case came to light that for persistent and unmerciful torture has perhaps never been equalled. Joe Golobick of Colusa, Calif., writes: "For 15 years I endured insufferable pain from Rheumatism and nothing relieved me but I tried every known remedy. I came across Eucalypti Bitters and it's the greatest medicine on earth for that trouble. A few bottles of it completely relieved and cured me." Just as good for Liver and Kidney troubles and general debility. Only satisfaction guaranteed by Short & Haynes, Druggists.

Moves to Decatur County.

Mr. Everett Cockrell, formerly of Tolinport, but in the last four years in charge of a dairy at Jonesboro, Ark., left over land Tuesday from the home of his father, John Cockrell's near Tolinport, for his new home near Horace, Decatur county, Ind. He will engage in farming and in raising fine cattle. His wife and child accompanied him.—Union and Telephone.

Lexington, Ky., July 23.—Curtis Jett and Tom White, who have been in the Lexington jail for safekeeping since their trial at Jackson, Tenn., were taken to Cynthia on the 7 o'clock train this morning in charge of Sheriff Leach and one deputy of Harrison county. Both of the men seemed anxious to be taken to Cynthia, there they think the people are not so bitter against them.

The Cause of Many Sudden Deaths.

There is a disease prevailing in this country most dangerous because so deceptive. It kills five. Many sudden deaths are caused by it—heart disease, pneumonia, heart failure or apoplexy are often the result of kidney disease. If kidney trouble is allowed to advance the kidneys will break down and waste away cell by cell. Bladder troubles most always result from a derangement of the kidneys and are obtained quickest by a proper treatment of the kidneys. If you are feeling badly from kidney trouble, or if you are suffering from Swamp-Root, the great kidney, liver and bladder remedy. It corrects inability to hold urine and scalding pain in passing it, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to go often during the day, and to get up many times during the night. The mild and the extraordinary effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the test of the most delicate cures of the most distressing cases. Swamp-Root is pleasant to take and sold by all druggists in fifty-cent and dollar sized bottles. You may have a sample bottle of this wonderful new discovery and a book that tells all about it, both of Swamp-Root, sent free by mail, address Dr. Kilmer & Co., P.O. Box 589, Binghamton, N. Y. When writing mention reading this generous offer in this paper.

Don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Swamp-Root, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.

The International Sunday-School Lesson.

THIRD QUARTER, LESSON V. 1 Samuel xvi. 4-13 AUGUST 2, 1903.

Samuel Anoints David.

That obscure Judean village is in a tumult. The even tenor of its secular life is broken up. An unlooked-for guest has arrived in the person of a man who outranks the king himself in the popular esteem and confidence. Samuel the judge has made a detour from his ordinary circuit, and has come to Bethlehem, east of the cities of Judah. What does his coming portend? The dull town is aroused, while the elders hasten to the gate to forestall, if possible, any impending judgment.

A moment later the most prosperous in the place, that of the prosperous Judean sheik, Jesse, is astir in preparation for a guest who is the most revered man of the nation. The sacrificial banquet is ready. The goodly savor of the roasted heifer fills the place; the guests are coming; the servants run hither and thither. Samuel, at once guest, host, and sympathizer, is about to take his place.

A shepherd lad, on the rough Judean steppes, near by tends his father's sheep. He may have seen the prophet pass, or noted the tumult in the town; but he is fidelity's self. Curiosity nor self-interest lure him from his duty. Shepherding sheep has been his unconsented preparation to shepherd men. His task has developed the traits of courage, patience, and sympathy. Solitude has been favorable to devotion. As a devout improvisator, he has often broken the silence under the stars with the noble strains of his psalmody, accompanying the same with his harp, making yonder cliff come in with the refrain.

The last is first. He who was not sudden even to the lowest seat at the feast is called to the head of the table. A servant relieves David in the care of the sheep and he hurries, without opportunity to make a toilet, into the august presence of the prophet. The candidate to the throne is in the bloom of youth. His healthful occupation has given him a ruddy cheek, while abundant locks upon a marble brow, are suggestive of the golden crown he shall soon wear.

But these adolescent charms of person are not to be compared with the graces of the heart for which the Lord first makes his quest. David breathes deeply the theocratic spirit. He loves God supremely. His foremost purpose is to be loyal and dutiful to Jehovah, and loving and helpful to his fellows. In this he is a man after God's heart. This constitutes his singular adaptation to the theocratic kingship, a position sui generis in history.

As David entered the banquet-room, Samuel's holy mentor says in the prophet's heart, "Up! 'Anointed!' In a moment the beaten and fragrant oil of the tabernacle is glittering upon those golden locks. Possibly no one in the company save the prophet understands the significance of the scene. A royal destiny for a shepherd-boy—who could divine it? So, after this episode the feast goes on and perhaps the lad, not having been 'sanctified' for the feast, goes back to the sheep.

But David must know the meaning of the prophet's enigmatical act. It slowly dawns upon his illuminated consciousness. Preparation for his high call keeps pace with his ever increasing knowledge of the claims and duties of that calling. There is a progressive occupation and enlightenment of his inner life by the Spirit.

It matters little whether this divine culture of the young king was mediated or immediate. Samuel may have been mentor as he was Saul's. The Bethlehemite lad may have made frequent pilgrimages to Ramah; or, like Saul, he may have taken a course in one of the divinity schools. These mediate methods, however, are in no way inimical to the immediate influence of the Spirit of the Lord which came upon David at the time of his anointing from that day forward.

However that may be when the hour of coronation came, the kingly office was matched by a kingly character. The manifold and imperative exactions of a position which has no precise parallel in history, were met by a versatile character, developed and inured to meet those exactions. David could both compose battle-hymns for his army and in person lead to battle. He could both make law and administer it. He could maintain no delicate equilibrium between the recluse and man of affairs. With a master hand he changed the whole face of Hebrew history. Samuel's anointing of David was the last official act, the glim of a long, useful, and honorable career.

The Teacher's Lesson

Samuel's grief for Saul was evidence of his genuine and noble disposition. While he still lived, he could not easily treat him as if he were dead. Though he did not visit him, he bitterly lamented his downfall. But here was a boundary beyond which this grief was improper. That limit was the point at which it disqualified him for obedience to God and service to the fallen monarch. Grief is natural, it is even honorable; but there is always a point at which a halt must be called to it. That point is where it begins to disqualify one for the evident duties of life.

The cure of grief is here indicated. Submission: I have rejected him. Work: Fill this horn and go. Hope: I have provided a king.

Dr. Trumbull, the versatile editor of the Sunday-school Times, carries his proposition "A life is a prolonged affair, a hollow form, engaged in a perfunctory way, and for the purpose of blinding Saul, it would be open to criticism. But Samuel could and did enter into this sacred service of sacrifice devoutly and earnestly as if he had had no additional purpose. It was concealment, not deception.

However, the Bible does not stand or fall by the answer to the question whether on this occasion Samuel made pretense of a sacrifice or not. The Scripture narrative is not the portrayal of ideally perfect characters, but rather of the genesis and evolution of conscience in man. What the men of our era can do conscientiously, the men of later ought not to be able to do. The standards of one age can not be those of another.

Blood will tell. The king-elder had an untarnished train of noble ancestors. He inherited the princely integrity of Boaz and the devoted fidelity of Ruth.

Yet David's aptitude for a kingship did not show in his physical appearance. Samuel would not have elected him at sight. As Lincoln passed through a throng a spectator said: "He's a dreadful common-looking man." The President, over hearing the remark, turned and said, good naturedly, "It only shows how well the Lord likes common folks, that he has made so many of us that way." Moral qualities are more important than physical.

Youth is no bar in the Lord's service. David called at seventeen. Samuel at twelve. Polycarp was converted at nine, Matthew Henry at eleven, President Edwards at eleven, Robert Hall at twelve, Isaac Watts at nine. Great are the gains to the individual, the church, the world, of early piety.

The hero-life of David gives the lie to the iterated accusation that the religious character is a spiritless and effeminate type. It shows religion compatible with courage, intrepidity, and clear grit. Yet fervent piety elevates David's other traits. The elements of his character are transfigured with faith and prayer and piety.

There are no human gauges to measure the inspirational force of such a life. While it quickens the pulse of youth, it will also prompt an imitation of its noblest traits. It is a voice crying,

"Blow, blow the clarion, fill the life! To all the sensual world proclaim, One crowded hour of glorious life, Is worth an age without a name!"

The colored population had a big picnic Saturday with a hop at night. Sunday was a basket dinner day with the Baptist society and it is wonderful what a goodly number they all made and how well the ministers and church are supported.

FOR ILLICIT DISTILLING.

Bud Keizee, Ed Richardson and Lon McGuffin are Arrested.

LIVE IN LAWLESS COMMUNITY

Geo. W. Gilliland, deputy United States Marshal, took three prisoners, Bud Keizee, Ed Richardson, and Lon McGuffin, to Owensboro Monday for trial. The three men live in the Constantine neighborhood, this county, and were arrested last Saturday on the charge of illicit distilling. Ed L. Smallwood, of the same neighborhood, was also on the train with Mr. Gilliland as a guard and witness against the prisoners. The three men had been running a small rig on Rough creek, near Constantine. Mr. Smallwood saw the men work and notified the government officers, which led to their arrest.

On arriving at Owensboro the men were taken before Commissioner Lindsey and on account of the absence of several material witnesses for the government the cases were continued until Saturday.

Constantine is about the worst neighborhood in Breckenridge county. Peaceful citizens cannot go to church without being disturbed by drunken men and there is a lawless element residing in the community that keeps trouble brewing all the time. It seems as though Mr. Smallwood has taken it upon himself to rid the community of this nuisance. He was suspicious of the actions of the three prisoners and one night lay on the top of a cliff and saw them at work with their rig down on the creek. When Richardson heard that Mr. Smallwood had sworn out a warrant for the arrest of himself and his co-workers he went to Mr. Smallwood's home and attacked him. Mr. Smallwood had to knock him down three times to get rid of him. He fears that he will have more trouble with Richardson and his friends.

Cholera Infantum.
This has long been regarded as one of the most dangerous and fatal diseases to which infants are subject. It can be cured, however, when properly treated. All that is necessary is to give Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy and castor oil, as directed with each bottle, and a cure is certain. For sale by Short & Haynes.

An Ingenious Woman.

The idea of masculine humiliation has been worked in the case of a Wichita man. His wife makes him wear tucks in the sleeves of his undershirts trimmed with pink ribbon so that the baby won't know the difference when he walks the floor with it in the night. Kansas City Journal.

Quaint Logic.

A bit of reasoning is a mode de Dieu, as I am told. I don't do it much, and I am very fortunate I don't, because if I did like it I should out it, and I can't endure it.

WRITER'S THOUGHT CRAMP

The Way the Flood of Inspired Ideas Ebbs and Flows.

If the fiction writer has his delicious moments, when he tastes the joys which come with the excitement of creative composition—and these he undoubtedly has—also he knows distressing periods of mental apathy. He has been working away at top speed, full of gladness in that subtle fabric which his pen weaves in the warp and woof of paper and ink. His head is packed with inspired ideas, like a gift box from the gods. His hopes ride high. His ambitions scrape the clouds.

Then something happens. It is not a snip, a break, a crash—nothing so tangible. It is just a ceasing. Abruptly, unexpectedly, the pen ceases to flow. No longer is there a life in the country of majestic, white-robed heroes and of alluring purple-toned valleys. All is flat and gray and bleak.

Just about now, if the writer only knew it, is a most excellent time for fishing.

At last, baffled, discouraged, heart-sick, he sits with his head in his hands, contemplating with foolish self-pity the melancholy spectacle of himself.

But, like drought and flood, war and pestilence and all other ills great and small, it passes. And he knows not how or when it goes. Days after he wakes up to find himself, pen in hand, hard at work again. Of his own accord apparently the machine has set itself in motion—Swell Ford in The Reader.

Saved Ann a Ducking.

A colonial shrew who was threatened with the ducking stool was once saved by this piece of advice.

"You wish to duck Ann Willott to cure her?" her defender declared. "Now if she is not cured where is the gain in ducking her? And if she is cured all the women who now keep a guard over their tongues through distaste to be likened to such a known, notorious and contemptible person as Ann Willott are no longer; but although it is not like any would be some as she, yet all would a little more than now they do, the shock of her example being removed. Now, it is better that Ann, being a single woman without family to afflict, should go unpunished and unducked, but despised by all and was her tongue as she will, standing there in for the whole town, than that she should be quenched and the tongues of other women run more free."

This argument seems to have prevailed, for Ann Willott was never ducked.—Yonkers Companion.

Tricky Dynamite.

"Perhaps nothing is more uncertain in the line of accidents than dynamite," said a dealer in the dangerous stuff. "You might drop a cartridge out of your hand, and it would explode and tear your body to atoms. Another cartridge taken out of the same case might be hurled from the top of a tall building and would land on the pavement like so much harmless wax, to be ground up under the wheels of heavy trucks and to be exploded with frightful havoc by the soft cushion tire of a bicycle."

Painful.

"As a general thing," says a lawyer, "one doesn't expect to find a sense of humor in the employees of a prison. Yet I know of a rather catchy reply made by a prison guard to the query of a visitor whether the existence of the guards was not a painful one."

"Painful?" echoed the guard. "I should say it was when you consider what a number of felons we have on our hands."

OLD GOA THE GOLDEN

ITS SITE IS NOW ONLY A VAST AND GRASSY TOMB.

The Once Splendid Portuguese City in India a Magnificent Wilderness. The Masterpiece of Art the Tomb of St. Francis Xavier.

It was said that during the prosperous times of the Portuguese in India you could not have seen a piece of iron in any merchant's house, but all gold and silver. They coined immense quantities of the precious metals and used to make pieces of workmanship in them for exportation. The very soldiers enriched themselves by commerce.

But even at last came the inquisition, which celebrated its terrible and deadly rites with more fervor and vehemence at Goa than in any other place. Religious persecution, pestilence and war with the Dutch, disturbances arising from an unsettled government, and, above all, the slow but sure workings of the shortsighted policy of the Portuguese in intermarrying and identifying themselves with the Hindus of the lowest caste, made her fall as rapid as her rise was sudden and prodigious.

In less than a century and a half after Da Gama had landed on the Indian shore the splendor of Goa had departed. The inhabitants had been reduced to the deadly fever which soon fastened upon the devoted precincts of the city, and in 1758 the viceroys transferred his headquarters from the ancient capital to Portugal, about eight miles distant. Soon afterward the religious orders were expelled, leaving their magnificent convents and churches all but utterly deserted, and the inquisition was suppressed upon the recommendation of the British government.

The place is now a grassy growth of weeds. But still the firm and well-built colonnades of this old city and its moldering splendors are reminiscent of echoing passages and the tramp of armies, and the sound of drums. As we tread the ancient wharf, a long, broad road, lined with a double row of trees and faced with stone, a more suggestive scene of desolation can hardly be conceived. Everything around them with melancholy associations, the very rustlings of the trees and murmur of the waves sound like a dirge for the departed grandeur of a city.

Towering above a mass of ruins a solitary gateway flanks the entrance to the Strada Directa, the straight street, so called because almost all the streets in old Goa are laid out in curvilinear form. It was through this portal, surmounted by the figures of St. Catherine and Vasco da Gama that the newly appointed viceroys of Goa passed in triumphal procession to the palace.

In the gate a level road, once a populous thoroughfare, leads to the Terra di Sabao, a large square fronting the Prinsal, or Cathedral of St. Francis Xavier, the patron saint of Goa when the place was captured by Albuquerque on the day of his festival. Groves of coconut palms and the sound of the drum beat on his ground once covered by troops of horse. The wealth, the busy life and the luxury of the old place are dead. Kites are seen circling the crumbling walls which once resounded with the banquet and the dance, and naught but a few old monks and nuns keep vigil at the door of the cathedral.

But Goa possesses one treasure of great interest. This is the tomb of Francis Xavier, the great Jesuit missionary, who died in the city of the Church of Bon Jesus. It is a masterpiece of art which is lost to all but the casual visitor to old Goa. Some have ventured to suggest that no other mausoleum in India or even in Asia except the Taj Mahal can equal it. It is built of rich marble of variegated colors. The middle stage is of red and white Jasper which is covered with a statue of the saint. The highest of the three stages is surrounded by a lovely railing of red Jasper marked with white spots, the saint's blood, the figures of angels, while its middle portion is graced with columns elegantly carved, whose intervening spaces are surrounded by arches showing further incidents of the life of the saint. The frieze of the four lateral columns are of black stone and the pilasters of yellow Jasper. Surmounting this last stage lies the effigy of the saint, with a gorgeous receptacle embellished with many exquisite specimens of relief work. Lumps of silver depending around complete the adornment of the shrine. It is a worthy relic of Goa's departed glory.

The bell of the Augustinian convent still rings forth its vesper peal above this old city of ghosts, and it is impossible to forget the effect of the deep, mournful notes as they strike upon the ear. Never was heard a more beautiful and more sadly musical summons than that which calls in vain from the tower of the Augustinians to the forsaken and solitary city.

It is all summed up in the eloquent apostrophe of Shere: "Goa the golden exists no more; Goa, where the aged Da Gama closed his glorious life, Goa, where the immortal Camoes sang and suffered. It is now but a vast and grassy tomb, and it seems as if its thin and gloomy population of priests and friars were only spared to chant requiems for its departed souls."—St. James Gazette.

Proof of a Conspiracy.

The following story is told in explanation of the reason why the teaching of chemistry in Turkish schools was forbidden some years ago. It had been proposed that this science should be added to the curriculum, but the first thing that struck the eyes of the ruler of the faithful on opening an elementary textbook of chemistry was the formula for water, H<sub>2</sub>O. "Here," said the sultan, "is proof of a conspiracy to undermine my authority in the eyes of my subjects. If H<sub>2</sub>O. That's nothing but a sly way of intimating that Hamid II. is a naught."

A Notable Gathering of Sunday-School Workers.

The State Sunday-school Convention, which meets at Lexington, August 18-20, should not be forgotten by the Sunday-school workers of this county. The prospects are that this will be the largest convention ever held. Fully one thousand delegates are expected.

About ninety county Conventions have been held since May 1st, and the whole State is aroused. Excite, Peace and Ryner are names to conjure with. My, will it not be fine to meet and hear and know these great workers and join with from two thousand to three thousand in singing hallelujahs under the leadership of the incomparable Excell! And just think what it means to come in vital and sympathetic touch with one thousand of Kentucky's leading Sunday-school workers. This will be a liberal education in itself. No Sunday-school worker can afford to miss it. None can form any conception of what a great and inspiring convention like this is worth to him until he has attended one.

Address the General Secretary, Louisville, for details.
